In Pembroke Hill's second year, unity was apparent. The students felt a sense of familiarity with their school which allowed each class to explore its particular responsibility and identity. From the Student Government in the Primary School to the positive leadership of the Senior Class, students tried to leave their mark on the 1986-87 school year.

Tryouts were held early in October for the fall drama production, that took place on the sixth and seventh of November.

Ten people made up the cast of The Diary of Anne Frank. It was a small cast, but a very successful one. The story takes place in World War II Amsterdam. It is centered around a group of Jews who hide in an attic to avoid being sent to the concentration camps. Anne, the main character, writes about the event in her diary.

Kim Chatten played Anne, Bobby Lea and Stacia Fairchild were Mr. and Mrs. Frank, and Claire Kai was Margot Frank. Also, hiding with the Franks were a dentist, Mr. Dussle played by Brandon Boyce and the Van Dann family portrayed by Mike Hennecke, Kelly Souders, and Brian Thalblum as the son, Peter. They were aided by Mr. Kraler and Miep, played by Stephen Spatz and Jana Jessee.

The play was very well done. A lot of people came to see it, and everyone liked it. Junior Kelly Evans commented, "It was really great!"

VARIETY AND QUALITY: HALLMARKS OF GLEE

(1) A group of sopranos nonchalantly hit the "G" in the Hallelujah chorus. (2) David Dickey emulates his idol John Tunks in hopes of becoming glee club president next year.

The Pembroke-Hill Glee Club had a very productive year. After working out the kinks of combined choral last year, this one went surprisingly well.

The choir's first performance was BRAVOS. The group opened up with three songs: one a medieval tune, another a German folk song, and the last a contemporary jazz song. They went on to perform a medley of various show tunes from the Tony award winning musicals of the 1950's. The junior-senior choir then performed at the Carriage Club and the Indian Hills Country Club. The Glee Club performed "The Messiah" a few days before exams and the annual Christmas program immediately after them.

Then came the musical. The spring musical has always been a success and this year was no exception. It starred Jud Wright, Wendy Greenberger, Mark Buehler, Jana Jessee, Graham Wallace, Kent Fortner, and Stephanie Black. Co-president of Glee Club John Tunks commented "I had a lot of fun in the musical."

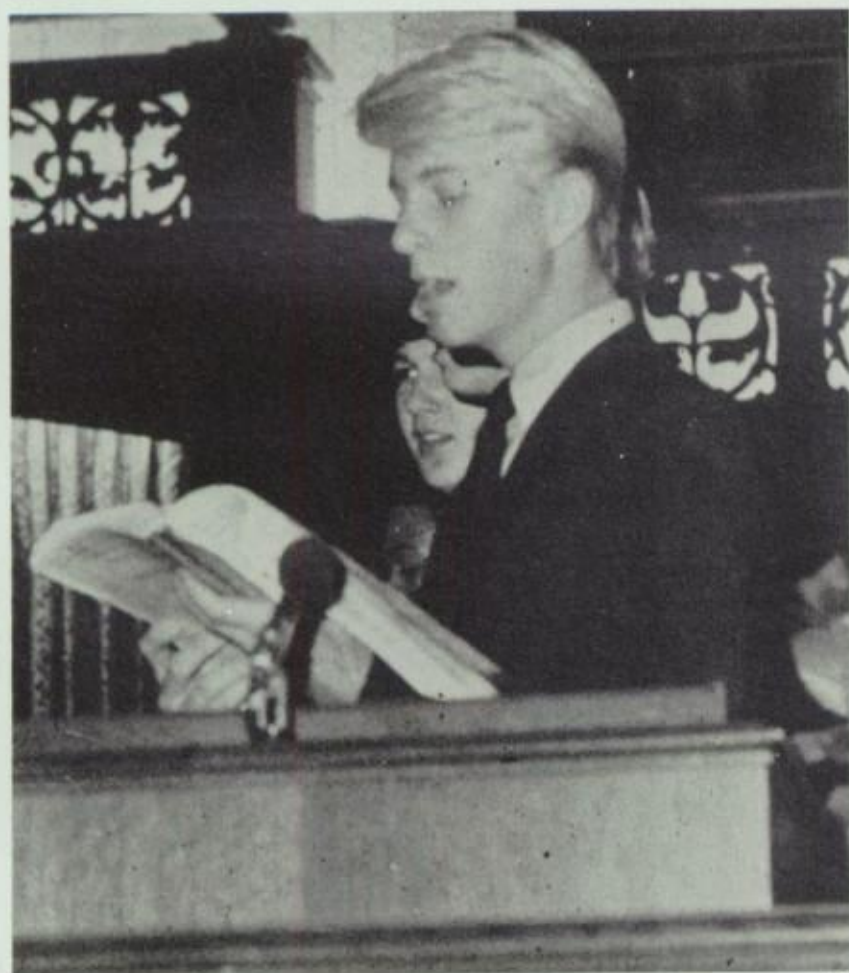

The annual junior-senior choir trip this year went to Dallas, Texas. As usual, it turned out to be as much fun as the rest of the year. One member said "I had always looked forward to the choir trip and this year I finally got to go."

Overall this year was a great success and it makes many years in the future seem promising. "I think we had a lot of talent this year." said co-president Holly Fisher. Tunks ended "I feel fortunate to be a part of it."

ART AWARDS

The 60th National Scholastic Art Awards was a great success for Pembroke Hill.

The contest covers the whole nation, but is divided into many regions. Kansas City is in the Western Missouri region which includes 52 counties.

The competition is divided into four different categories; ceramics, computer graphics, photography, and art.

Middle and Upper School Art teachers Helen Helwig, Don Adams, and Susan Boomhouwer and Upper School Photography teacher Susan McElvain submitted seventy eight entries from Upper and Middle School students. Eighteen were selected to be displayed at the Ward Parkway Shopping Mall. Five pieces were sent to New York to compete with other regional selections. Senior Jacob Savin, who submitted two entries in the computer graphics category, was one of the four chosen. The other three New York entries include sophomore David Mitchell in the ceramics category, senior Heather Merrigan who entered in the photography category, and Middle Schooler Peter Savin, who submitted a painting.

Four Gold Key Awards, which are first in the regional competition, went to Middle Schooler Josh Quarles, senior Judson Wright, junior Matt Earnest, and freshman Kris Kendall.

Of the 3000 entries in western Missouri, 400 were selected for exhibition. Of that 400, 18 were pieces created by Pembroke Hill students. This is the best that Pembroke Hill has ever done in the Scholastic Art Awards.

The second step in the P.H.S. music program is lower school music. There students continue to perform in shows, learn musical skills, and continue an introduction to composers. The Orff method of teaching is continued at this level and helps students to perfect their ability.

Teacher Robyn Hartfield, formerly Robyn Waters a teacher at Sunset, stressed that by developing their skills early, students would be able to advance in the music department and continue to uphold the tradition of fine music from the school.

The stars of this year's fall and spring music performances were the kids in the primary school choir. Grades kindergarten through second performed in the fall show while the three year olds through second grade performed in the spring.

When the group was not doing shows, the kids participated in class. There they learned rhythm skills as well as basic concepts of music. The class' teacher, Debra Anderson, stressed that the method of teaching used, the Orff method, is very important in helping the students learn music. It involves playing instruments, becoming familiar with famous composers, and, of course, lots of singing.

Anderson commented on the success of the program, "With the merger we practice three times a week. We could have a dynamite group in three or four years."

Primary School Music ... the beginning. Beginning is an appropriate word to describe the essence of the program. The class provides a strong base from which students can launch spectacular musical careers during their secondary school experience. Through the ORF method of teaching used in class, students gain fundamental skills in rhythm and basic comprehension of written music. The products of the students' hard work are the Fall and Spring programs. This is truly an amazing feat.

UPPER SCHOOL THESPIAN SOCIETY

The Thespian Society encourages students to participate in drama productions. It also helps kids to learn various acting techniques, and the different stages of producing a show. This year's president was Jana Jessee, and Roger Hawkins was the faculty advisor. The Thespians make up most of the casts of the Pembroke Hill drama productions.

MIDDLE SCHOOL THESPIANS

Middle School Drama students, under the direction of Hope Hawkins, presented two productions this year: "Pigman" and "Potman Spoke Sooth" a spoof on Agatha Christie. After "Potman" three teams of three students participated in Theatresports, an improvisation contest. Faculty and administrators were judges for the contest. Audience members provided cues: the actors had one minute to prepare their script, then performed. In class and in performance, drama students had a busy year.

HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS WITHOUT REALLY TRYING

A book, a large corporation, a clever and ambitious young window washer, and a slew of mixed up secretaries and businessmen create a fast moving and funny story with laughs a-plenty. J. Pierrepont Finch, played by an exuberant Judson Wright, decides that with his book, How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, he will move through the ranks of the large company, World Wide Wickets.

Along the route to the top, Finch encounters Mr. Twimbull, played by Frazier Miller, bumps into the president, J. B. Bigley, Graham Wallace, and has run ins with the whining president's nephew, Bud Frump, excellently portrayed by Marc Buehler.

Finch falls in love with a young secretary, Rosemary, played by Jana Jessee, and they are engaged during the show. A sensuous secretary, Hedy LaRue, played by Stephanie Black, takes World Wide Wickets by storm and ends up engaged to the president of the board. Mr. Bratt and his secretary Smitty, played by Kent Fortner, and Wendy Greenberger, add to the spice and humor of the show. Other parts included John Hendren as the TV announcer, Doug Murphy as the advertising manager, and Doug Kassebaum as Wally Womper, the chairman of the board.

The show was a big success and broke even for the first time in years.

(1) The members of A.F.S. defy gravity as junior John Coe looks on in envy. (2) Vesna Blaskovic begins to wonder what American food is really like. (3) Andrea Neri illustrates the Italian technique of writing with your mouth.

This year there were two AFS students, Vesna Blaskovic of Yugoslavia and Andrea Neri of Italy. There were nine returnees from the summer program and there were two who participated in the year program. Eighteen people applied for various programs AFS offers for this summer, including one applicant for the year program.

The returnees presented slide shows and gave talks about their experiences abroad. This was the second year that AFS had a Casino Night. This was a fund raiser to earn money to help support the AFS students. AFS also had other fundraisers such as the Pumpkin-Gram Sale for Halloween, the Candy Sale for Valentine's Day. There was a pot-luck supper where the returnees fixed dishes from their countries. AFS had several short-term students who came to visit the school for either a day or a week. These students came from various countries and were year students at different schools in the Kansas City area.

AFS proved to be a very successful board this year. The AFS students were active in the school community and many people became involved in the board.

What's the largest club on campus? AFS, right? Maybe Social Service? Wrong! The Alliance Française is. This club has over one hundred fifty members according to junior Morgan Grether. In case your wondering, that is about one-third of the upper school student body. "About half of them don't speak French," Grether added.

Under the supreme leadership of President Ashley Nelson, Vice President Jud Wright, and advisor Bruce Burgess, the club held many fund raisers throughout the year. The money generated permitted the club to participate in many French traditions, including eating and attending movies. "It's more than just a French club. We promote brotherly love throughout the world," Grether commented.

Ashley Nelson to Bruce Burgess "You know that paper I was supposed to turn in."

The Latin Club is an organization established to help Latin students further their understanding and appreciation. "I really enjoy studying Latin. It gives me the chance to learn a lot of English. You know, big words like pugnacious," says Latin Club member Andre Randall. The second semester saw an ancient, Roman-style banquet where slaves served their masters.

"It helps me to understand Roman culture," AFS student Vesna Blaskovic said.

It was the week before Thanksgiving. The barrels were set up in the commons room. Social Service president Rachel Kroh stood before the student body and begged for food (canned goods preferred). The student body responded, and at the Thanksgiving assembly Rachel announced that the Junior class had brought in the most food. The school as a whole raised more than 500 pounds of food for poor people.

To the students, the Thanksgiving Assembly was perhaps the most noticeable of the Social Service projects this year. Using the same Phone-A-Thon format as last year, several acts took the stage to entertain the students. A preacher talked to us about silverware; we saw a hammer dulcimer mini-concert; several people acted in a long skit, and Jud Wright and his band The Toes played. "It was fun," commented Jud.

Social Service has done much more than this. The year started out with the organization working at Snoopy's Pumpkin patch, where, despite the rain, several people turned out to paint faces onto pumpkins. On Valentine's Day, the board sponsored a party for the kids at the home for battered children. They continued the popular "Sponsor a Goal" program, where students pledge a certain amount of money for each goal by the hockey or soccer teams, or each football touchdown. During Jan-Term, Rachel and several colleagues worked at a soup kitchen serving soup. As of March, the board had not yet held its annual mixer, but was planning to, near the end of school.

"I think that the whole board has done a really good job this year, and I've really enjoyed working with everyone," said Rachel about the year.

Caskie Collet and Bobby Lea participate in a SADD sponsored convention held at Oak Park Mall.

SADD, Students Against Drunk Driving, has been at our school for four years but has been especially active in the last two. SADD's main project this year has well as last year was sponsoring chauffeurs to drive people to and from Prom. They raised money for a hotel room for the drivers through the bake and postcard sales. SADD also sent pamphlets pertaining to safety precautions to parents. In addition, they sponsored speakers to talk with the upper school students.

President of SADD, Frank Williams, had been involved in the organization for several years and led a very successful year. Co-vice president Peter Figge commented, "SADD is a great organization and it keeps getting better." Matt Earnest, co-vice president added, "Next year we hope to make SADD a stronger organization than it has ever been."

ACTION!

This year's Tech Club was as productive as ever. These are the always important men behind the scenes. They are responsible for the lighting and sound during musical productions, including the choir's spring production of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying", and also for the various assemblies throughout the year. Under the leadership of seniors Rob Padula, Mark Gauthier, and Jacob Savin, this dedicated group of professionals carried out their thankless tasks efficiently and without complaint.

UPPER SCHOOL STUDENT GOVERNMENT

"Would everyone please sit down and be quiet!" yells Jeff Herman at morning assemblies. This is only one of the many responsibilities Jeff has as president of student government.

Along with starting out the morning assemblies, Jeff and the board have many other commitments to the student body. Student government's main goal this year was to establish unity within the school. They also wanted to help the students gain as many privileges as possible and make sure that the students were treated fairly.

The board worked very hard on satisfying the student body's wants and needs this year. They approved the junior class' proposal for honors study hall. They allowed the juniors to put vending machines in the commons room. The board has worked on getting the junior class open campus. Finally, student government is working on establishing a new attendance policy which will be more lenient on students who are tardy.

Student government has also sponsored a CPR day and a student exchange program with other schools. Vice president Wendy Greenburger commented, "I feel the students are getting more involved this year. Also students should know we're always here to listen to them."

MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENT COUNCIL

This year the Middle School Student Council, headed by president Brett Posten, has accomplished many things for the Kansas City community. To start off the year, the Student Council had a food drive during Hunger Week. The food drive raised 578 pounds of food for Harvesters. It was distributed to needy families throughout the Kansas City area.

The faculty advisor, Myra Williams, commented, "One of our main concerns this year is to help the people of Kansas City." The officers of the second semester were as follows: Brett Posten, President; Adam Smith, Vice-President; Tim Blond, Treasurer; and Matt Brow, Secretary.

Another project the Middle School Student Council took on was cleaning up Ashley Hall. They tried to avoid having trash and graffiti in the halls. The Middle School Student Council was one of the best Student Councils in a long time, and its members should add a lot to the Upper School next year.

Student Council members Leslie Berkowitz, Claire Watkins, Lydia Rheinfrank, and Jason Fore eagerly plan the week's activities.

The Lower School Student Council was comprised of 2 representatives from each home room in grades 3 through 6th, for a total 26 representatives. The officers were all selected from the 6th grade representatives, by election within the council. The 3rd, 4th, and 5th graders elected new reps once in each of the three marking periods, the 6th graders elected new reps each semester.

The council was given a number of student concerns to deal with. The council also sponsored one bake sale for each grade. The council also determined the use of the proceeds from these sales. The Lower School Student Council was able to carry out the students' desires very effectively.

Before you condemn the Primary School Student Government to being ridiculously unnecessary, think again.

The organization prepares those students in kindergarten to second grade for the more important leadership roles they may have in the future.

Meeting once every two weeks, the council, under the leadership of Mrs. Pat Munro, discussed all facets of their school life. After the first semester representatives were elected in the fall, the council first worked on making a set of rules for the Primary School to follow. The philosophy behind this procedure was not only to give the students an experience in legislation, but also to offer a set of rules to the students that would seem attractive coming from their own classmates.

The second semester council representatives supervised fund-raising campaigns for UNICEF and the United Way. They ended the year with a read-a-thon for Multiple Sclerosis.

CROSS COUNTRY SKIING

Biting wind in your face, and snowy terrain swiftly gliding under your feet, the essence of that laborious sport known as cross-country skiing. Cross-country enthusiasts of the Pembroke Hill community, for the second year in the history of the school, united to continue the Cross-Country Ski Team. On a somewhat irregular basis, the team members, coached by Ellen Glenn, held practice, which consisted of running and other forms of exercise. The team enjoyed one advantage over last year's; this year it snowed. On several occasions, small groups of members participated in unofficial competitions held at Kansas City Country Club. The formerly all male team was also enthusiastic about the addition of women this year. Plans for next year include a minicourse organized by Coach Glenn, and a practice in which every member of the team participates.

Under the supervision of Coach Glenn, three skiers prepare to trek over the campus.

What's the only sport that isn't really a sport, that takes place in the spring but only meets two times a week? Here's a hint: Dr. Scruggs coaches it. Give up? It's the rugby team! This dedicated group of guys give up their precious time every Tuesday and Thursday at 5 o'clock.

There they learn the basic rules of rugby and scrimmage against each other. "While it's not an official school sport, it is a great way to keep in shape and have a lot of fun!" commented Peter Figge.

"There now, do it exactly like my son Will," exclaims Dr. Bill Scruggs.

OUTDOOR CLUB

The Outdoor Club, created this year by Ms. Mary Gottwald-Williams, Viv Hutchison, and Heather Lynch, successfully obtained the interest of the students with their weekend trips. Every other week, the group, lead by Co-Presidents Hutchison and Lynch, planned their activity for the weekend. Regular activities included caving, rappelling, and overnight backpacking trips.

This year the club organized the annual two week backpacking trip, which had been put together by Ms. Gottwald-Williams, alone, in the past. The ten member group spent their entire spring break in the wilderness of Utah.

Co-President Hutchison added, "Everyone is so enthusiastic and there are many younger kids involved, so the club should continue to do well next year."

The Scholar continues to impress us with its diverse qualities. Although it got off to a slow start, it managed to produce one major issue. The Scholar prints non-fiction stories and even some outstanding research papers that a student did for a particular class.

Under the leadership of Co-Editors Ramon Espejo Saavedra and Lisa Carrico and assistant editor Illah Nourbakhsh, The Scholar created a new section, The Forum. The Forum includes character sketches along with movie or play reviews. The Scholar also includes art and photography.

Lisa Carrico commented, "I think that working on The Scholar is without a doubt the best experience that the school has to offer. Being an editor with Ramon is the climax of my four years of school here."

The 1986-'87 Garret was an unusual success. Under the leadership of seniors Rob Padula and George Curtis, with the guidance of faculty member Jim Williams, the Garret was successful in producing one spring edition for the year.

And no one could deny that the Garret was unusual. Its format is a publication for creative, fictional short stories, poetry, artwork and photographs. This year's Garret offered an interesting glimpse into the minds of Pembroke Hill students, proving again that more than schoolwork bounces around in their heads.

The 1986-'87 Voice has certainly kept up with its distinguished reputation. The journalists led by senior Editor-in-Chief Rachel Vile put out 12 papers this year.

Some features in this year's issues were on Bill Shapiro and his radio show, Cyprus Avenue, 101 KCFX, home movie rental, pizza, traffic violations, and more.

Basic characteristics of the Voice were late-nighters and Raspy eating away at one of Mrs. Vile's infamous chocolate cakes.

The paper people must gather their information, type it up, lay it out, paste it up, and circulate it. All of this in just three weeks.

Once again adviser Art Atkison has endured the rigors of keeping such Voicers as Judson Wright and Jay Miller in line in meetings.

MIDDLE SCHOOL NEWSPAPER

What is that mysterious product that comes from the middle school four times a year? It looks like a newspaper, wait . . . it is a newspaper!

It is called The Ashley Echo and is completely student run. It is a four to six page paper dedicated entirely to reporting the news. The staff consists of about thirty seventh and eighth graders. The editorial staff changes every two issues and has no bias toward either grade. It provides a good experience for future Pinnacle and Voice staff members. Faculty advisor Carol Flynn commented, "I feel that because the kids do all the work, they have a good idea what working for a big paper would be like."

"This — was a building year." Debate coach and, beginning this year, teacher commented on the 1986-87 team. This was the first year that debate was offered as an academic program. and that, according to coach Carl Graves, was instrumental to future debate teams at Pembroke Hill. "The competition was fierce. Star debaters included Thad Withers, an extemporaneous speaker, Anne Voights, who competed in a more philosophical Lincoln-Douglas style, Holly Fisher, Billy Maher, Chris Jones, and Megan Moorman.

Debate encouraged growth in the areas of research, organization, critical thinking, and public speaking, to name a few. Dr. Graves summed up the year and competition of debate, "Anyone who learns these skills and tries hard is a winner."

RAIDER CLUB

(1) David Eckels stares aimlessly into space while Adam White tries not to think about Megan Stamper. (2) Those nutty Raider Club people! But is Mark Evans cool or what?

This year's Raider Club is under the leadership of senior David Eckels. The Raider Club organizes a variety of sports-related events. These include the selection of the homecoming king and queen candidates. They also organized the half-time festivities of the homecoming game. The club also organized pep rallies throughout the year. The Raider Club has spent the year whipping up school support for sports teams and has done a commendable job of it.

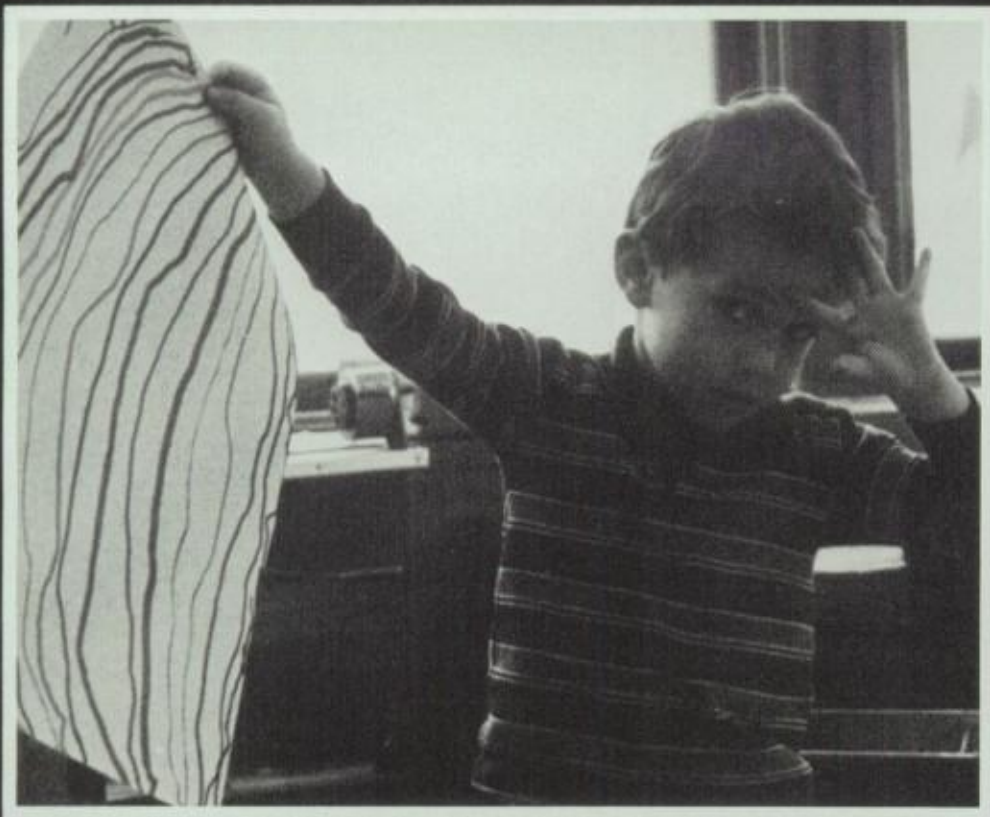

This year the Pinnacle, next year the world. Headed by Editor-in-Chief Melissa Rouse, the yearbook's major success was coming out on time. This success was due to the unvarying dedication of the copy, layout, ad, and photo staffs. Many late nights were spent working to meet deadlines. But in the end, lead by the superior editors: Vance Miller, managing; Britton Franke, layout; Emily Rheinfrank, assistant layout; Dannie Thompson and Tracy Davis, photo; David Dickey, copy; Quinci Payne, feature; Rachel Kroh, ad; and Amy Hunkler, index, triumphed with the everpresent help of advisor Ellen Glenn.

What was the reward for all the work you ask? Why, of course, it was the Pinnacle Party, held this year at Melissa Rouse's house. A huge success, the party was well worth all the effort put into the yearbook this year.

Every morning from 8:00 to 11:30, 60 kids came from all over Kansas City to meet for an exciting, fun-filled day of pre-school. That is right, the class of 2001: a learning odyssey.

There are three pre-school teachers with one assistant. They are Kit Smith, Leslie Present, and Kathy Feldmiller.

The pre-schoolers' activities throughout the year consisted of two musical programs, November 13 and May 21, Grandparents Day, October 15, and on May 1 they joined the rest of the lower school in Field Day.

The students' day consisted of music, art, physical education, and many other activities which made for an exciting schedule that will definitely get harder as the years pass.

"I would wipe my nose, but I have mud on my hands," explains Caroline Drisko.

"The most important grade in the whole school" was Mrs. Nancy Smith's first thought reflecting on the Pre-Kindergarten class. "There was a strong emphasis placed on assessing the children's abilities very closely and making sure they were in the right class. This is very important in the children's development."

The Pre-Kindergartners experienced a lot of "hands-on" work throughout the year. The majority of the activities they participated in had a lesson to be learned. One such activity was cooking. The class received recipes with words and pictures on them. By following the recipes, the students learned to read. Another activity was a visit to a school for the blind. The students were blindfolded and learned what it was like to be handicapped. They participated in classes and played with an object such as a ball that beeps. Other activities included: a trip to the pumpkin farm, a trip to the Nelson Art Gallery, a trolley ride, a visit to the city market — where food was purchased and prepared by the students in class, a trip to Crown Center, a visit to the Kansas City Museum, P.E., computers, library skills, and music. The year was summed up to be "a positive learning experience" for the kids.

SPRING VACATION
By Mrs. Smith's Pre-Kindergarten
Group 1

On spring vacation you could go swimming in Palm Springs because it's real sunny and hot. You could go to Florida to sunbathe. You could go to the lake and rent a boat and ride in it.

You could go up to Des Moines to have a big Easter hunt. You could pick flowers, put them in a vase and put water on them and give them sun.

You could go to Disneyland and eat lunch with Mickey Mouse! You could go to the duck pond at Loose Park and fish for fish. You could go to the park and play baseball.

You could visit your grandma and friends. You could go swimming in an indoor pool. You could ride a horse at Benjamin Stables.

Kindergarten this year went very well. Each year, the kindergartners come into the classroom fresh, with very few preconceptions and leave on their way to build a comprehensive education. This year was no exception. Not only did the kindergartners learn the basic reading and math readiness and personal development skills necessary to function in Primary School, but also they took several field trips. Among some of them were to an apple orchard, a pumpkin patch, The American Royal, a fire station, a Post Office, and a trip to Kaleidoscope. "What I like about teaching kindergarten at Pembroke Hill," Linda Steimer commented, "is that the parents are so supportive." Many parents came to speak to the students about careers. Also, outside speakers, such as Police Officers, spoke with the kids. Mr. Silverforb added, "The kids are so enthusiastic, creative, and imaginative that it helps me even dream a little."

This year was very exciting for the first grade. They took field trips in the first semester to a dairy as well as the opera version of Where the Wild Things Are. The things they learned ranged from basic reading to dinosaurs to the solar system. The students also learned to alphabetize, use the dictionary and the encyclopedia, and basic math. "It seems we're more eager to learn this year," commented one of their teachers. Mrs. Smith added, "It's been a great year." Jennifer Luening said "I like first grade because my teachers are real nice, I have a lot of friends, and 'cause I have a lot of fun." Justin Kaufmann interjected, "The field trips were really cool." The Witch, the Dragon and the Girl by Tyler Fox

Once upon a time there was a witch, a dragon, and a girl. The witch's name was Witch, and she liked to make things disappear. One day while the witch was making things disappear, a bird flew by and knocked the wand out of the witch's hand. It fell to the ground. When she reached down to pick it up, it was not there. The dragon had picked it up before she tried to pick it up. The dragon's name was Dragon. The dragon found out how to use the wand. He turned himself into a man and he took a walk. He met a girl. The girl was lost, so he took her home. Then he turned himself back into a dragon. The girl was horrified! The dragon told her to bring him the biggest diamond in the world in four days or he would eat her up! So she started off. She went through one forest, over four mountains, through two rivers, and there it was - the biggest diamond in the world! She picked it up and went back through two rivers, back over four mountains, back through one forest, then to the dragon's home and gave it to the dragon. She then went back home. They were glad to see her. She told them the story about the dragon and the witch.

LOWER SCHOOL 3RD GRADE

The thing I like about 3rd grade is you start to feel different - like I'm out of 2nd grade and into Lower School. You're almost a man or a woman. And the education - you learn something new everyday! - Larry Indyk

The thing I like most to do during my spare time is play the piano. At school as a third grader, I listen to my teacher and do my work. I like to read, write, draw and play with my friends. I like to learn new things at school and home. P.E. is a fun thing too. At D.E.A.R. - Drop Everything And Read - I read stories that I know I will enjoy. But the most fun thing to me is being with my family and friends. - Jennifer French.

I like being a third grader because there are lots of fun things to do. My favorite thing to do is read. I like to read because we have lots of fun books. I have lots of friends and I like my teachers alot. I've learned a whole bunch of things in third grade and I love it! - Sarah Present

LOWER SCHOOL 4TH GRADE

What I like about fourth grade? I really like the teachers. I also like the field trips. I also like the classes we take like science, French, music, and P.E. They are all really fun. No matter what, you are always having fun at Pembroke Hill School.

On the first day of school, it was really wierd. My brain sort of swerved and veered. I was going to play with my all-time buddy, but I had to go home and do something stupid like study! I was going to a party and have fun, but I had to go home and do math. At the end of school, near summer vacation, we had to do a report on sanitation.

I like fourth grade because it is fun. I also like my teacher and I like the field trips we went on. I like my buddy from kindergarten a lot. I like the experiment we are doing in science about the rats.

LOWER SCHOOL 5TH GRADE

The Fifth Grade has had fun with a great variety of activities ranging from a trip to the Wild Wood Outdoor Center, to a trip to Exchange City. At the end of the year the Fifth Grade French students went to Quebec in Canada for one week.

In academics there was great variety. The Fifth Graders studied economics, geography and many other important subjects. A lot of Fifth Grade students were involved in basketball and other school sporting activities. They seemed to have enjoyed the year thoroughly.

LOWER SCHOOL 6TH GRADE

The class of 1993 this year took over the role as leaders of the lower school and did an excellent job. As leaders of the lower school student council they conducted bake sales, held a pancake breakfast, and helped in organizing spirit week. The sixth graders also participated in the now traditional activities of outdoor school and science fair. Outdoor school was held at Wildwood in October and as sixth grader Reed Kroh put it, "It was a blast." Science fair has also become a traditional activity. Each student put together a project, conducted an experiment and wrote a paper.

"Science fair was alot of fun. Doing the experiment was exciting." said Judy Dickey. Other activities included the sixth grade chorus and four sixth graders managed varsity basketball. Sixth grader Ryan Dolan, talking about the year commented, "It was really fun being the oldest grade but I'm looking forward to coming to the Ward Parkway campus next year."

MIDDLE SCHOOL 7TH GRADE

"This year has been so much fun, a lot better than last year!" commented seventh grader Rice Petrie. This year the seventh graders have been involved in many activities. One of the first things they were introduced to was Pembroke Hill football games. "I had the best time at Homecoming, I can't wait until next year." commented James Butcher. The most important seventh grade activity was Project Star, an activity to promote the "Say No" principle on drugs, tobacco, and alcohol. The seventh graders were also involved in many sporting activities, including football, basketball, and wrestling. With all these experiences the Class of '92 will be the leaders of our school.

MIDDLE SCHOOL 8TH GRADE

Class unity was promoted in the 8th grade. Many parties were set up by the parents for their entertainment. The themes ranged from a '60's party to coke and pizza parties after football games. The school coordinates activities for both seventh and eighth grades like the speech contest and Star Scape '87. Team sports were also organized for the girls and boys. Two eighth grade commentators, Matt Rouse and Lydia Rheinfrank, both agreed that the Halloween bash thrown by classmate Raleigh Coburn was THE party of all parties.

UPPER SCHOOL 9TH GRADE

The Freshman class has reached new heights this year. In sports, especially tennis, the class of '90 has participated on junior varsity and varsity teams. Leslie Weber and Leanne Mos, varsity tennis players and freshmen took first and second at districts and sixth in state. Matt Hoffman consistently was in the top spots on the varsity tennis ladder. Field hockey had many freshmen on teams this year, including two freshmen on varsity.

"We've had a great year being together and being part of the class of 1990!" said Pam and Pat Shores in unison. The Shoreses speak as one voice for the whole ninth grade.

This year's sophomore class strived to create unity and organization to help bring the class together. The unity and organization developed by the sophomores this year will benefit them in the more strenuous years to come.

Not only did the sophomores become more involved in their class, but in their school community as well. Many sophomores participated and lettered in varsity sports. They also became interested and attended many of the school's board and publication meetings.

Bobby Lea sophomore class president commented, "I feel the class as a whole has grown up a lot and grown out of all our little 'cliques'. People feel more comfortable with each other and are able to work together in a more productive way."

The hallmark of the junior class was excellence. The class of '88 showed excellence in leadership, athletics, academics, and school activities. The juniors took effective measures to create new school policy and made new fund raising opportunities in the form of soda and candy vending machines. Athletic excellence was realized by juniors of football, track, wrestling, field hockey, basketball, and soccer teams. Juniors had good showings on metro-state teams and competed on state levels.

Juniors also penetrated the echelons of many dubious organizations, preparing for the inevitable take-overs and producing quality results for publications and activities. Diversity was prevalent in the class as was shown by the variety of courses juniors took and excelled in.

There were two varsity field hockey teams, varsity A and B. The varsity B team ended their season with a 6 and 7 record. One of their games was a tie at the end of regulation time and they ended up losing it in overtime. The varsity A team ended their season with a 3 and 11 record. Although the record for the A team does not show, the team played well throughout the season. Four of their losses were obtained in either overtime, or flick offs.

The captains of the field hockey teams this year were Melissa Rouse and Ashley Nelson. They were very valuable to the teams because they helped the players keep up their spirit and confidence.

The hockey teams traveled to St.

Louis and Oklahoma to play such schools as John Burroughs and Casady. Teams from Oklahoma and St. Louis also came to Kansas City to play.

The rivalry between Barstow and Pembroke Hill field hockey teams was especially strong this year. Barstow beat the Raider's A team three out of four games that they played against each other. But, the B team won all of the games they played against Barstow this season.

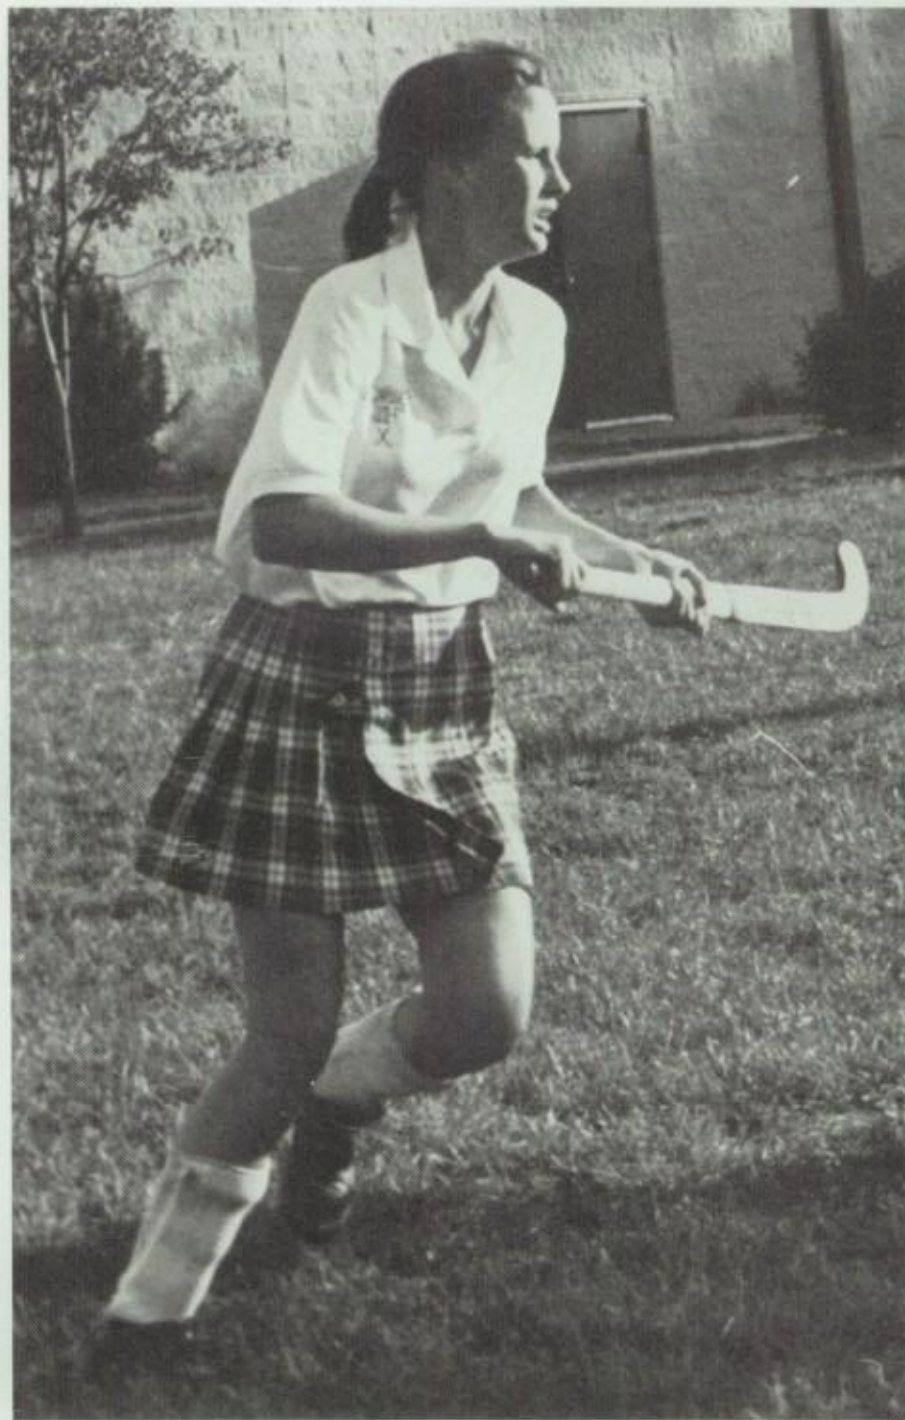

The season ended in a challenge that the fathers made to the daughters. They played a hockey game against each other and the daughters won three to two. They plan on making this a yearly, end of the season tradition. All in all, it was a good season for the hockey team.

JV FIELD HOCKEY

Although this year's Junior Varsity hockey team was not victorious, the season was not a total loss. The majority of the team were Freshmen, with a few "select" Sophomores and Juniors. The team worked hard on perfecting their skills gaining more experience and knowledge of the game. The J.V. team was very competitive and fought very hard on and off the field. By the end of the season, the team had developed their skills and learned the basics of the game. Avery Hughes and Susan Reuter did an excellent job as coaches and helped teach the J.V. team about working together.

"1, 2, 3 . . . foosball!" was the infamous cheer of the J.V. soccer players previous to taking the field each game. Although the J.V.ers became renown for this cheer, it took them over seven weeks to get the opportunity to make use of it. Due to four rain outs, the season as well as Jim William's coaching debut, were delayed until October ninth. The Raiders defeated Truman 4-1.

Sophomore West "Macho Man" Valentine explained, "We were so psyched for our first game that we had a sundance the day before and it sure worked!"

The next two opponents were powerhouses, Rockhurst and Sedalia Smith-Cotton, both of whom defeated the Raiders. But these games couldn't get the team down after such a pause between try-outs and the first game. The Raiders regrouped and pulled out two victories consecutively over DeSoto and O'Hara. A key to these victories was the tight-knit passing of the halfback line. Lead by sophomores Chip "Monk" Koester, Frank Seebree, and Peter Hyde, the half backs supported the front line lead by junior Soren Gantt, and sophomores West Valentine and Travis Day.

The tough schedule continued and the competition prevailed in the final four games of the season. Blue Springs, Olathe North, Shawnee Mission South, and Center all levelled the Raiders. Their defense lead by co-captains Paul "The Kid" Gauthier and Jeffrey "Ivan" Sosnow and juniors Mark "Beaker" Cohen and Jay "No Pain" Miller, were unable to stop the shelling received from the opposition.

Although the team suffered a losing season, there were many more positive notes on the season. The team worked well together and got along well, regardless of the fact that they were a young team. J.V. never slowed down or gave up. The defense held Smith-Cotton scoreless in the second half, while the offense got off several good shots. The game was just one of the many improvements made by J.V. Through it all, the team's main goal was accomplished-to have fun!!

Frank Seebree dribbles the ball even though his picture is out of focus.

This year's c-team finally got a victory. Although they didn't pull out a great winning season they had great spirit and good potential. The team was composed of freshmen which allowed the players to get a good amount of playing time throughout their ten game season.

Many of their games were close, due to hard work during their practices which took place during the seventh period of the school day.

The coach Dr. Bill Scruggs said, "There were a lot of kids with a good deal of playing experience, but who hadn't played in a couple of years. The year gave them a chance to reestablish their skills in the game and learn to play with each other."

"WALK THIS WAY!"

The searing days of August with their 90 degree temperatures and 80% humidity provided the initial backdrop for this year's Missouri 1A-3A second place soccer team.

"Back in August I never would have dreamed we would be this good. I thought we'd surprise some people but this was incredible!" commented junior co-captain David Dickey. After losing 12 seniors, nine of them starters from the 1985 team, people were bound to have their doubts. The lingering question was, how good will this team be?

The opening game of the 1986 season provided everyone with a good idea of what was to come. Playing against arch rival O'Hara the young team squeezed out a 1-0 victory and began to step away from the bitter memories of last year. Junior Will Scruggs put it like this, "All of the returning lettermen were really psyched. Playing in front of so many people at the BBQ game was great. We wanted revenge."

The first half of the 1986 season was one of the zeniths in Pembroke Hill soccer history. The Raiders roared out to a 9-2 record. For the first time ever a Pembroke Hill team placed third in their own tournament and won the Raytown South quad. The true pinnacle to the regular season, however, came in a 2-2 tie with Rockhurst. The Raiders tied the number one team in the city and moved up to fourth in the Star/Times top ten. The ranking was the highest ever achieved by a Pembroke Hill/Pem-Day team. Senior Alec Junge felt, "It was really cool shaking hands with them as they stood in shock before us."

The remainder of the regular season had its ups and downs. Victories over Kansas final four team Olathe North and Blue Springs highlighted the second half along with their best showing ever against Smith-Cotton.

The one thing that set this season apart from all others, however, was the post season. It all began in the district semi-finals against K.C. Lutheran. Playing in sub zero temperatures with fans tucked comfortably away in their cars, the Raiders set the tone for what was to come with a 4-0 victory.

The win advanced the team to the district finals for the second straight year. This year's team, however, wanted the results to be different. Barstow proved to be a tough opponent and the score remained tied until late in the second half when junior co-captain Frazier Miller scored the game's only goal on a direct kick. The district championship was now a reality. Miller commented, "We had wanted to step out of the shadow of last year's team. It was a great feeling to reach one of the goals we had set at the beginning of the year."

The district win advanced the Raiders to the state quarterfinals in Joplin, Missouri. No Pembroke Hill/Pem-Day team had ever gone as far as the quarterfinals and few realized that there was more to come. Joplin McAuley would be the opponent; a team that the Raiders had defeated earlier in the season on a rain soaked field in Raytown. The game proved to be another squeaker as a single goal was the difference and the defense provided the third shutout of the post season for a 1-0 win. Senior Tim Freund, expounded on the game, "It was awesome, I loved it! We're going to St. Louis!"

St. Louis was the next and final stop for the team and St. Louis soccer park was the backdrop. Playing on astroturf against second year final four team Smithton, the Raiders played another typical heartstopper. The game remained tied on the icy field until the 77th minute when senior Mark Gauthier scored the winning goal. Junior Mike Corbin had this to say about the game, "The team pulled together even more for this game than the others. It was a true team effort."

The state finals, while being the highpoint of the season, proved to be a disappointment as well. After beginning the game strongly the Raiders finally had the post season scoreless streak snapped and fell to John F. Kennedy 3-0. A disappointment yes, but the best place to be disappointed as junior Kent Fortner expressed, "The trip to St. Louis was an experience I have yet to appreciate. Its hard to comprehend what we did . . . all I know is that it was fun!"

The season was one of records and memories. The records are many and few of them will probably ever be equaled. The Raiders had the most victories of any Pembroke Hill/Pem-Day team in history. They advanced further in the state tournament than any other P.H./PCD team. They were the first Kansas City team in the eighteen year history of the soccer playoffs to advance to the finals. The team also advanced to fourth in the Star/Times all metro top ten, the highest ever. Individually several players also set records or attained special recognition. Junior goalie David Dickey set a MSHAA soccer playoff record with 13 saves versus JFK in the finals. Seniors Mark Gauthier and Repps Stanford received honorable mention Star/Times All-Metro team. Co-captain Frazier Miller received first team honors. Also, senior Repps Stanford was named to the 1A-3A all-state second team. Seniors Mark Gauthier, Lawrence Thomas and co-captains David Dickey and Frazier Miller were named 1A-3A first team. For the players the memories will last a lifetime and as coach Ed Quigley summed up the season, "This is a player's sport and the best testimony to the coach doing his job well is that the players play the game as a team with him on the sidelines, enjoying what he sees."

The Varsity tennis team had their best year ever this year. Before this year, the tennis team had won neither districts nor their own Pembroke-Hill invitational. This year, the girls varsity tennis team not only swept the PH invitational but also won districts and sent four girls to state.

Captain Anne Gusewelle commented "Tennis was never any fun before this year." Winning nine matches out of fourteen, how can you not have any fun?

"We should just get better and better," said Anne Gusewelle. "We had a really young team and the freshmen played as hard as the four juniors and three seniors," commented coach Karen Boulware.

The four players who went to state were: Kelly Evans, Jenny Atterbury, Leanne Moss, and Leslie Weber. They all played very well, particularly Leanne and Leslie, who tied each other for fifth place in girls singles.

Team spirit, enthusiasm, devotion, and dedication were the hallmarks of this year's J.V. tennis team. The team included almost twenty players, one of the school's largest J.V. tennis teams.

The largest asset of the team was its membership. "We all got to play a lot," commented junior Jennifer Katz. The coach, Barbara Jacobs, used an unusual but good method to pick the match competitors. "I tried to pick girls who came to practice a lot," she said, "not just those on the top of the ladder." This method encouraged team unity and growth.

"We had a lot of fun," said co-captain Emille Leake. Coach Jacobs summed up the season by saying "I was very pleased with the way the girls played this year."

VARSITY FOOTBALL

A surprising 1986 edition of Raider Football took up where the state finalists of '85 left off. Led by tri-captains David Eckels, Eric Kendall, and Adam White, the Raider team consisted of six seniors, seventeen juniors, and seventeen sophomores. I Work-Work-Work was the theme adopted and put into practice by the team. The Raiders set out to establish their own identity and escape the shadow of the last year's team.

The Raiders struggled with inexperience and a small senior class, but nevertheless attained a respectable 4 and 5 record. With only six seniors, juniors ably filled remaining starting spots. "I thought they did a good job," commented captain David Eckels on the juniors' performance. "Few in numbers, high in quality," was Coach Bob Hicks' thought on the team's seniors, who proved themselves to be excellent leaders for the underclassmen.

Four of the five losses were within a touchdown of victory for the Raiders. One of the reasons for the Raiders success was a stingy defense which always kept the game within reach. Hard hitting linebackers and bone crunching linemen were supported by a fleet secondary to make a game winning defensive unit.

A Homecoming victory over the Raymore Peculiar Panthers constituted one highlight of the Raider season. After three and a half rainy quarters, the Raiders scored a touchdown and found themselves with a 7-0 win over the 4A competitor. Coach Hicks labelled the game as one of the greatest victories of his coaching career.

Hard work and tough play were the hallmarks of this year's squad. The team dealt with its inexperience by turning to the zeal and excitement of the young players. Regardless of the record, the '86 Raider team had a successful year.

This year was a successful one for the ninth grade football team. With a record of 1-2 at mid-season, the team ended their year with two crucial wins against Hogan and Bashor. Their final record of 3-2 reflected the dedication with which they played. The young Raiders will be a welcomed addition to the J.V. as well as the varsity squads next year. The eighth grade football team had a tough season this year. Although their record did not reflect it, they had a lot of talent. Having very little experience playing interscholastic sports, the team had difficulty gauging their level of competition. With a little confidence in themselves and some additional speed, the team has a chance to go a long way next year. David Kusnetzky commented "I've learned a lot this year and I am anxious to begin the next one."

The varsity volleyball team exploded into the full season winning their first five games. "The first game was really good," commented senior co-captain Ashley McMullen. "Anne Frisbie had great serves as well as blocking and spiking. Stephanie Black (co-captain) was also a good setter."

The team was under new leadership this year," coached by Reed Goldsmith. Volleyball is not unfamiliar to Mr. Goldsmith. He played competitively with an AAU team and coached volleyball in the Peace Corps in Africa. He has coached j.v. soccer at Pembroke Hill in the past and decided to try to "accept the challenge of coaching another sport, which has not had a lot of success."

Senior Holly Fischer commented, "Since Mr. Wilson was coaching j.v., he (Goldsmith) could work with the eight varsity players. At times he could be very tough, and we wondered if he was on our side, but we knew he was."

The team commented collectively that the match against Villa, in St. Louis, was far and away the best, and the most competitive match played all season. After a long, hot bus ride across Missouri, the team played John Burroughs and lost two games. However the next morning the team came back to win two out of three against Burroughs and later demolished Villa in three games.

"We were great; we were wonderful. We played better than any other Pembroke Hill volleyball team I've seen play in a long time", commented senior Holly Fischer. "The competition there was the highest all season, and I think we played when the competition was higher."

Reed Goldsmith added, "This was a good season because the team developed a strong sense of team unity. Everyone on the team improved greatly. Even though this was a 'losing season,' I feel it has been a very successful one."

J.V. volleyball faced a difficult season this year. Although they didn't win very many games, they worked well together and played hard. A new coach, Bill Wilson, put the team to work. "He really taught us team work," replied Kristin Goodman. The team started fresh with new players that had to learn to work together. The J.V. team did manage to beat Barstow, their rival, that was the highlight of the season. "The season was tough and it would have helped if we had more fans at the game," says junior Kristin Goodman. The season started with many new aspects such as a new coach and many new players. The J.V. team played a lot of hard schools and worked well together. This was the season to break things in, for sure next year will be more successful.

The cross country team this year did a fine job. The seven team members did an excellent job holding their own at the team's four meets. After recovering from five weeks of being on the injured list, captain Liz Kelsey said "I've lost a lot of the conditioning that I had because of my injuries, but I'm glad to be racing again." Her spirit was typical of the team's dedication to its sport.

The team's members Shelly Atkison, Laura Mackey, Andre Randall, captain Liz Kelsey, Nathan Evert, Tony Beasley, and Maggie O'Sullivan participated in vigorous workouts. The boys generally ran three miles per day; although some members ran more than others.

The team's coach Bob Boyd hopes to broaden cross country next year, and then develop it into an official team. "We are a bunch of workers. I'm looking for an improved team next year. I feel that we have the nucleus for Pembroke Hill's cross country team of the future."

This year's J.V. wrestling team was very successful. They started practicing early in November, from 2:00 until 3:15 every day. John True finished with a 9-1 record at 98 lbs.

True was captain for the entire year and he commented, "It was a great year and we learned a lot. We have a lot of freshmen who will be very competitive next year." Coach Bill Scruggs stated, "We should be very competitive next year if the kids work out a lot in the off season."

The varsity wrestling team started practicing in early November. There were almost thirty people out for the team. The first match was against Wentworth Military Academy and the Raiders won. They won their second duel against Butler two days later.

On December 20 the Raiders traveled to Springfield for a sixteen team tournament. It was the last match before Christmas. Jason Johntz and Eli Metzger both placed 6th, and Joe Reidy took 4th.

When the Raiders came back after Christmas, they had only one day of practice before the next match. They wrestled Aquinas and Bishop Ward on January 6. They lost both matches.

The Raiders had their next tournament against O'Hara. There were eight teams including the Raiders and they placed 3rd overall. Brad Barnhorst finished first at 132 pounds.

One week later, the Raiders traveled to Saint Louis to wrestle in an eight team tournament and finished second overall.

The Raiders finished their regular season with a 6-4 duel record. Then they went to districts on February 14 and finished 5th. Joe Reidy finished 1st at 138 while Jason Johntz and Will Scruggs took 3rd at 98 and 155 respectively.

At sectionals only two people won. Jason Johntz and Joe Reidy advanced on to the state tournament.

At State, Jason Johntz finished in a tie for 9th place, losing his first match to the eventual state champion. Joe Reidy won his first match and then lost his next one to the eventual champion.

He went on to win his third match but lost the fourth, ending up in 8th place.

SWIM TEAM

The Pembroke Hill swimming team started the season with a splash and proved to be a formidable competitor against other teams, despite their size. This tough, ambitious team was led by the fist-of-iron coach, Corey Pirello. At first there were a few problems with the team adapting to yet another coach, but soon the team became a strong, united force. Perhaps in years to come, more students will recognize it as a sport worth watching.

The team sent six swimmers to state in three different events. The 400 meter free relay team, consisting of seniors Sam Niknia, John Stubblefield, junior Lee Reddin, and sophomore Gerald Miller, heads the list. Junior Lee Reddin along with sophomore Gerald Miller, also qualified for state in the 200 meter individual medley. Graham Wallace went along for the 100 meter breast stroke.

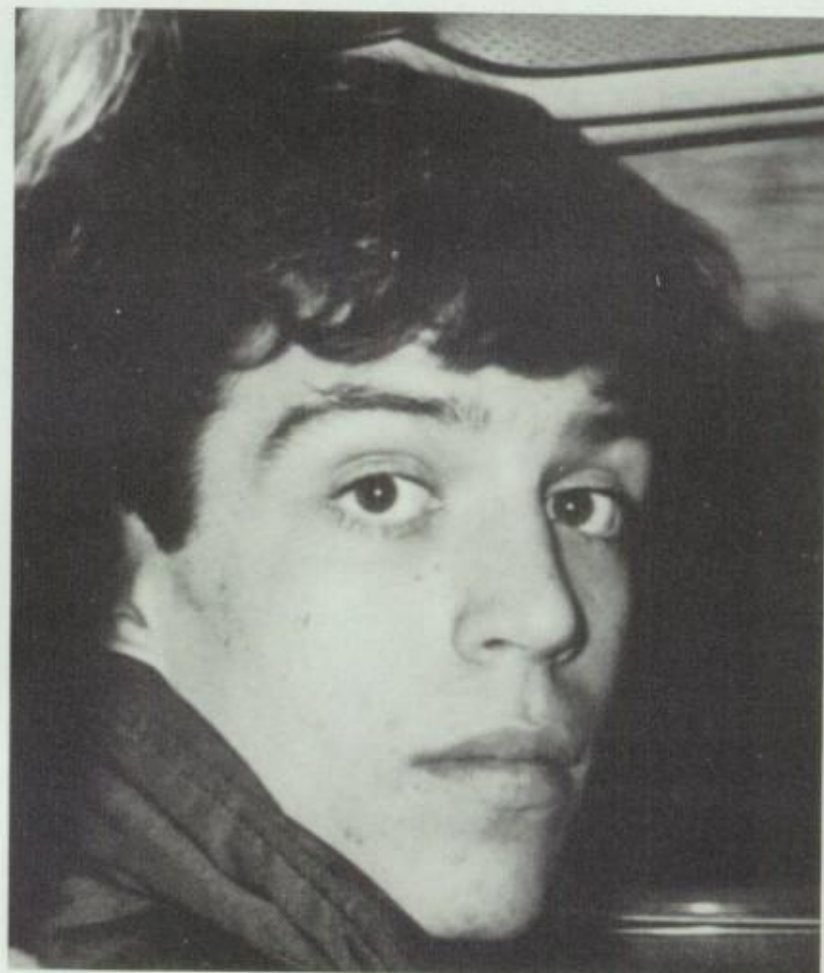

Back Row - Chad Wollard, Matt Earnest, Eric Hunter, Kelly Manning, Matt Sirinek, John Stubblefield, Sam Niknia, Sean O'Brien, Scott Beard, Graham Wallace, Rafe Clancy, Brett Cooper, Jim McMullen, John Oberlander, Lee Reddin, Kaveh Niknia, Todd Schulkin. The Pembroke-Hill Varsity basketball team this year gained a great deal of experience. With only two returning players, the young team lacked the vital experience necessary to achieve a successful year, yet by the end of the season, they were able to get as far as the district finals.

Marked by injury, the young Raiders saw problems from the start. They had injuries ranging from broken hands to broken noses to sprained ankles to the stomach flu in the first half of the season alone. Junior Tim Honan summed it up by commenting, "Due to the fact that our respective injuries occurred early in the year, the team was, consequently, unable to become a cohesive unit later in the season."

Even though the team's record did not reflect it, the scores show the excitement that many of the games aroused. The one point overtime loss to O'Hara and the two point loss to Belton are two examples of games that proved to be exciting for those who attended.

The Raiders seemed to flex their muscles only in district play. One reason for this was, as Phil Seifert stressed, "Our schedule this year was mostly made up of 3A teams. Once districts came around, it was easy to see the difference when we made the finals as we have for the past six years."

Next year, the Pembroke-Hill Varsity Basketball team should look forward to a more prosperous season. With all of the experience the team has gained from its 23 games, and perhaps, the good fortune of few injuries, the team should see a very successful season. Mr. Seifert added, "They should have expectations of being able to beat any good team next year."

JV BOYS BASKETBALL

The junior varsity basketball team continued its winning tradition this year under rookie coach Rick Allison. The team, composed of six juniors and nine sophomores, posted a 9-3 record. Junior center Brett Pickett commented, "We played really well as a team. Everyone was unselfish." This proved to be true in excellent wins over traditionally tough Ray-Pec and archrival St. Pius. The season finished on an up note with a 39-31 win over previously undefeated Aquinas. "In the Aquinas game we finally did almost everything we had worked on all season well. The score didn't show it but we played a great game." Coach Allison summed the season up; "Each player made a great deal of improvement which is the goal of the J.V. program. We played well as a unit and worked very hard together."

8th GRADE BASKETBALL

The eighth grade basketball team in action

The 1986-1987 eighth grade boys basketball team did not enjoy as much success as in past years but, as head coach Mel Woods put it, "... it was an enjoyable season. Everyone had fun." The team finished 3-8 with two wins over Englewood Christian and one over Highland. For the Raiders Doug Day manned the point, Scott Johnson led the team in scoring, Nick Abernathy and Turner Deckert led the team in rebounding, Bret Posten was the defensive stopper and Walker Hess, Pat French, and J.J. Landon giving good support off the bench. Coach Woods summed up the season, "We played much better toward the end of the year. We weren't blessed with a lot of speed, but everyone worked hard."

9th GRADE BASKETBALL

This year the ninth grade basketball team, coached by Chip Campbell, successfully gained needed experience for future high school competition. Despite their unusually tough schedule, the team was able to overcome the lack of easy matches. The team had no star player, rather when all members put forth their share of the team effort the results were always good. Coach Campbell added, "When each individual player rose to the occasion, the team performed at its best."

GIRLS VARSITY BASKETBALL

The 1986-87 girls varsity basketball team had, in the words of head coach Susan Reuter, "A great season." The varsity was extremely young, consisting solely of freshmen and sophomores.

The season started out slowly but, as the girls began playing more, the team picked up dramatically at the end. "One of the highlights of the season was the win over Englewood," said Reuter. "We had lost by two points at their gym, and won by nine-teen at our own." Freshman Pat Shores added "It was a great win. It really showed how much we had improved."

The season was capped off by two wins over Hogan, which, in Susan Scruggs' words, "Was totally awesome."

The team finished with a record of 3-8, and will lose none of its starters going into next year. Reuter commented "It was a great season. We came a long way without alot of experience. The girls worked extremely hard and I'm really looking forward to next year." Freshman Pat Shores summed it up best "We all worked really hard and had a great time!"

JV GIRLS BASKETBALL

The junior varsity girls basketball team for 86-87 finished 1-4 but as sophomore Susan Scruggs put it, "We had a blast!" The J.V. had over 15 girls on the team which was more than in previous years and as Coach Avery Hughes put it "With so many people out for basketball we should be able to improve alot next year." The team's win was by five points over Blue Ridge Christian.

Courageous, enthusiastic, talented, and devoted would all be good words to describe this year's cheerleading squad. Despite the general lack of school support, the cheerleaders continued to show their spirit at football, soccer, and basketball games.

The cheerleaders, coached by Mary Beth Marchiony, put in two hours of practice each week and faithfully cheered through rain and cold. The varsity, with captain Micki Sotta, kept up the flow of adrenaline in the crowds at the varsity games, while the junior varsity performed at junior varsity games.

Micki Sotta commented, "We had veteran leadership on the varsity and strong talent on the j.v. squad, and we hope to do well next year."

Sports fan junior Shombi Sharp observed, "They have a lot of courage and school spirit."

Students had a great time in Primary School P.E. this year. They did activities such as gymnastics, soccer, and earthball. Goals of the program were to encourage the kids to work together and bolster their team spirit.

Lower school physical education was an exciting and adventurous activity for the third through sixth graders. Goals of the program were to increase self-confidence and create situations where students need to work together, not to mention exercise. Activities ranged from traditional basketball and field hockey to more exotic things like rappelling, gymnastics and fencing.

The P.E. classes were taught by Steve Timmons, Amos Branson and Georgeanne Marx, Susan Reuter, and Mel Woods.

One excited middle schooler said, "I really like gym class, and it's a good way for me to relieve my stress from middle school studies."

It all started on a cold, rainy Friday night. The storm had calmed; the football game had stopped for half time. The cars started around the track and Emily Rheinfrank had begun to announce the candidates "Shelley Atkison . . . her escort, David Eckels . . . Britton Franke and Steve Johnson . . . Ashley Earnest and Mark Evans . . . Quinci Payne, escorted by Vance Miller . . . Melissa Rouse and Adam White."

Emily opened the envelope and announced that Quinci and David had won the Queen and King titles. It started to rain again. All the fans left the game, but the Raiders beat the Ray-Pec Panthers anyway.

On the next night (Saturday) the everpopular, enthralling, magical, annual homecoming dance was held. Despite the band and the low attendance, it was still fun. "It was fun," said Quinci Payne.

The Lower School had a great Spirit Week this year. In late October, kids in grades three through six concentrated on learning about themselves and others.

"Working with our little partner was really neat," said fifth-grader Lynn Hoffman. Having little brothers and sisters from Primary School was just one of the many activities including a food drive for Harvesters, UNICEF trick-or-treating, a pancake breakfast to benefit Children's Mercy Hospital, and a balloon launch.

One of the highlights of Spirit Week was the talent show. Some fifth graders sang the song "Lollipop" from the movie "Stand By Me." Other popular songs performed included: "We Are the World," "Be True to your School," "We're the Monkees," and many other popular songs.

"Spirit Week turned out to be really fun," said Lynn Hoffman. She apparently speaks for the rest of the Lower School.

The Wornal Campus' Halloween Walk was a huge success. The primary school students had a beautiful Halloween morning to play games organized by their lower school partner classes and to munch on the goodies brought for them by the moms. The Halloween Walk topped off a spectacular Spirit Week filled with fun activities, including an all school assembly that featured the Pembroke Hill Upper School Choir performing a medley of songs from Tony Award winning musicals of the 1950's.

The most exciting event of the week was the balloon launching where the students released 280 orange and black balloons with postcards attached to them. The postcards listed a group of students' names and the school's address. The strong North wind sent some balloons as far as Wayland, Iowa, where people wrote back!

This year the 7th and 8th grade Father Daughter Dinner was a great success; everyone seemed to enjoy it. The dinner started off with punch, while people talked and got to know each other a little. Then everyone sat down to a meal of prime rib and meatless lasagna, prepared by our amazing kitchen staff. Said 8th grader Jill Ulrich, "It was lots of fun having a special evening just with dad."

After dinner there was a skit from The Bad Seed performed by 8th graders Barbie Belt and Jill Ulrich. Then the 7th and 8th grade choir, under the direction of Mrs. Anderson, performed a variety of songs, which included a solo by Rachel Loeb. After the performances, the fathers and daughters went to the Alameda Plaza for an evening of dancing. Said Jill Ulrich, "I hope this tradition will continue into the future."

This year's ninth and tenth grade Father Daughter dinner was held on January 29th. The dinner was very successful and enjoyed by the dads and daughters of both classes. The evening started off with a delectable dinner prepared by Tom Ayer in the beautifully decorated lunchroom. Sophomore Kim Moeller commented "The food was really good and we had a really interesting conversation with our good buddy, Mr. Maughn."

Following the dinner, the dads and daughters went down to the auditorium for some entertainment. A group of students did a skit, Rachel Cole played the piano, and Lolli Lucas and Kris Schaum read a poem entitled "My Dad".

After the wonderful entertainment, many girls and their fathers went to such places as the Hyatt, the Top of the Crown and the Vista Hotel. Sophomore Mindy Schultz commented "A lot of the Sophomores went dancing with their dads at the Top of the Crown. My dad and I were awesome, just like Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers." The whole night proved to be a great time for everyone. Freshman Mara Katz summed up the evening, "It's a rarity not only that the two classes get together but that they spend a wonderful evening with their fathers."

"MEMORIES"

The lights dimmed, and the crowd was silent. Suddenly, movement was detected all around, and faint outlines of creatures could be made out through the darkness. Was this an invasion by aliens? No! It was the beginning of the father's takeoff on the musical "Cats", which they performed for their daughters in the tradition of the Junior/Senior Father-Daughter Dinner. In their production, the fathers played on the idiosyncracies of their individual daughters, making for a hilarious scene. Music Director John Lovstad helped the fathers put the act together and directed them in their serenade,

"Memories," sung to the girls after the play. At the end of the song, each father presented his daughter with a rose and a hug.

Many girls expressed that this year's dinner and show were much better than those in the past. Junior Beth Dolan reflected this, "The culinary expertise of the kitchen staff in the preparation of the meal was exquisite. However, it was surpassed, if only by a slight margin, by the indomitable acting prowess of the fathers in their brilliant reproduction of 'Cats.' It was a grand evening. WOW!"

Revels took place this year before Christmas Break in the Primary and Lower Schools. Students congregated in the Wornall Gym bright and joyous with the holiday spirit. They dressed up for the occasion in a Christmas decor. Christmas presents, Santa Clauses, snowmen and reindeer were only a few of the colorful costumes present. The festivities included the crowning of the Revels Queen, Candice Wakeney, the Yule Log Procession, a story by sophomore Amie Frantz, and finally the singing of many of our all time favorite Christmas carols. Fourth Grader Brooke Frazier summed up the event, "It was totally fun and a good way to get ready for Christmas Break."

Yet another January Interterm has passed and students feel more enriched than ever. Certainly those who participated in the Bar-B-Que history mini course do. Two weeks worth of eating, studying, and cooking bar-b-que, how could one go wrong.

Other mini course options were just as popular. The SAT review and college counselling courses were big for many juniors. Certainly all of the AP chemistry students enjoyed the AP chem. lab course. Watergate, KGB and World War I were popular for those with politically oriented minds.

The mentioning of the WWI mini course brings out a new topic. this year was seen as the year of the mini course crackdown. Mini courses with an I, signifying these as inter-disciplinary, ranged from terrorism to taxes to living on Earth as a human being. Students were asked to choose one (1) mini course from the I category.

Students were asked to choose three (3) other graded mini courses and were given only one (1) pass-fail mini course. No longer could students glide by with four (4) basket weaving courses. This judgement came under fire from the junior class considering the mandatory college course was a pass-fail and many juniors had promised to make their mothers baskets.

Due to this, several people chose to try independent study projects. Shadowing ambulance crews, police and lawyers were the ever present popular choices. Still others tried something more original. One student did a history of Marlon Brando. Others did such activities such as starting and operating a business and writing a book. No independent basket weaving studies were permitted.

Junior Doug Kassebaum summed up the inter term period, "I never did like baskets anyway."

STARScape

This year's Starscape, February 9 to the 13th was a successful continuation of the new program. This year's theme was "accept others as they are." A speech was given by Reverend Cleaver on this subject. Students were encouraged to exhibit positive attitudes, and in general be considerate of others. Students and teachers were asked to send love notes to their favorite people in the school. Outside of school the students were encouraged to contribute their time to Project Warmth. Students learned a great deal about themselves and their classmates during the week long program.

The goals of the Starscape program are to make children more aware of the feelings of the people around them. It encouraged people to be more polite and understanding of others who may be different. the Starscape program will continue in the future along similar lines, but using a variety of different methods.

"The main impetus of Meier and Rudwick's conclusions is supported by their evidence ..." stresses Dr. Carl Schulkin, alias John Callaway, eighth grade.

V A L E N T I N E ' S D A N C E

Junior David Dickey summed up the 1987 Pembroke Hill Valentine's Dance by asking, "Hey are you going to remember enough to write the article for the yearbook."

The Valentine's Dance started off shakily, due mainly to the fact that it was planned only three weeks ahead of time. This gave the girls ample time to make plans, because it was WPA.

In any event the dance was mostly a success. Junior Dannie Thompson was the deejay for the party. As a special touch to the music, Andre Randall's cousin rapped for the dancers. As things were getting rolling, veteran partier and upper school teacher Fred White broke up the dance, but not before the deejay could get in such classics as "Burning Down the House" and "Born To Be Wild."

As Junior Skip Tague recollects, "It was a blast. Me, Coe, Hicks and Sos all jammed to Steppenwolf and that was the clincher to my night." Freshman Alice Park concluded, "It was pretty fun, I've been to better dances, but it wasn't that bad."

This year the Pembroke Hill community was presented with many different special assemblies. Among them were assemblies dealing with subjects ranging from freedom to AFS. The first assemblies of the year were done by AFS and Social Service. The AFS assembly presented returnees from countries such as Denmark, Japan, France, Costa Rica, Israel, Peru, and many others. They read mock letters describing their individual experiences. Social Service sponsored an assembly to collect food for hungry people on Thanksgiving. Not only did the upper school collect an enormous amount of food, but also Social Service staged a telathon featuring acts and skits performed by students and faculty. Other assemblies before Christmas included Alvin Ailey and a speech by Martin Luther King III. Second semester brought in the Hazard Lecture Series. This year, there were two lectures by professional speakers who each talked about survival. Among other second semester assemblies were the first Ethnic Assembly, a performance by two members of the Meliora Quartet, and an awareness assembly about AIDS. Jeffery Sosnow commented "I thought Dr. Eger was especially good because she was able to relate her experience in the Holocaust to her later life very effectively."

Blythe,

I can't say much more but thanks. Through my life I've seen fire and rain I've seen sunny days that I thought would never end. I've seen lonely times when you were my only friend. You've also been my mother, teacher, lawyer, sister, reprimander and the only one to keep me out of trouble and catch me when I fell time after time. You always gave me that so meaningful hug and cheered me up when I needed it. I can only wish for you the best time possible in your life. A special place will always be in my heart for you. Remember all the good times and just keep smiling!

I Love You!

No more field hockey, No more A.F.S.,
No more funny laugh every day,
These things make us sad.

No more checks to Pembroke Hill School/Sunset for tuition-

This makes us happy!!

We're very proud of you! We wish you much
LOVE, HAPPINESS, and SUCCESS as you embark on the next phase of your life. We'll miss you.

Thanks for the memories!

MEMORIES

Memory, turn your face to the moonlight,
Let your memory lead you, open up, enter in.
If you find there the meaning of what happiness is,
Then a new life can begin.

Memory of the days of your childhood,
When your life was so easy, it was ice cream and cake.
Growing up, dreaming dreams and find out who you are.
Still forever, daddy's star.

College beckons, soon you'll leave me,
Off to start a new life.
Where ever you'll be in my heart you're with me,
You now have wings to soar.

Touch me, it's so easy to leave me
All alone with the memory of our days in the sun.
If you touch me you'll understand what happiness is,
Look a new day has begun.

"Memories may be beautiful, and yet what's so painful to remember, we simply choose to forget. But it's the laughter we will remember, when we remember the way we were."

ASH - Thanks for always being there! We've spent many years together, and many memories. "A lifetime is not too long to live as friends."

T.F. - Hey you gorgeous thing! (was that ok?) I hope it didn't start another fight! Tommy, thanks for being you, I'd want you no other way, no matter what I say. Thanks for being so special! Well, I've gotta go wipe the rain off my house, you wash the turtle!

HANA - Keep in touch! You are the greatest friend! We've shared so much! I love you and I'll miss you.

A.H. - Thanks for being such a great friend, the memories are endless! I'll never forget them!

M.J. - We've made it! The memories are endless! Our laughs, crushes, crys, and talks are things to remember! We've been through a lot together. Thanks for the times and for being so special! I'll be there for "the" wedding!

D.B.Y. - Thanks for having such a big heart! I honestly do love you car! Thanks for saving me when I went the wrong direction! Don't ever change! Thanks for always being there and putting up with so much!

FRW - Greencastle, here we come! I say we buy the town and put a saks in! We'll have to meet there! Thanks for being so special, the memories and laughs are unforgettable! Thanks for being my best friend!

Oh, King Dave - I hope you find a lot of nosey girls in college with a lot of extra gum! Don't ever change David!

B.F., S.A., A.B., C.D., A.E., Q.P., M.R.

Where do I begin? I have always wanted a sister. I don't know why because you all have been like sisters to me. I'm sure that all our parents would agree that since seventh grade we've spent more time together than with our families. I'll never forget the times we all "tried" to cook dinner or the times we've gossiped and cried together. Always being there when we go from one guy to another. S.A. - your bed will always be there even when I'm in Conn. and we both know it only fits one person comfortably. don't forget - sisters forever! M.R. - Never forget Vail, the Duck Club, Cape Cod; sharing the bed at Shelley's (on the floor) B.F. - a week in Chatham, (the sailboat!), our party, my basement! C.D. - our one night in Chatham, parties at your house, A.B. - New Years Eve - babysitting! Vail, Chatham, our party!, our private talks! A. E. - girls nights at your house; our first boy-girl party! Q.P.-Q.P. - summer in chatham - G.C. remember? duck club !These are only a few memories I'll never forget! I still think we all get along so well because we're all nerds, no one will understand us at college! A.B. - (the other one) - you have been a great friend. You've always been there when I need to talk or cry. You'll never know how much you mean to me. R.S. - Ads were so fun to do together. M.E. - those outings to the art gallery!

Thanks for always being there for me.

I love you all and I'll miss you!!

BFF,
Rachel

P.S. Mom, Dad, Pierce and Brent I Love You all and will miss you so much when I go to college. I know things will work out and all will be normal! I LOVE YOU!

Dear Megan,

We've sure come a long way since those first few days sophomore years. Who would believe we used to hate each other?! What will we do so far away next year - I don't know how I will keep myself in one piece without you to keep me organized. But then again, will you have any fun without me? Don't worry, even if you are stuck in an iceberg, I will still come visit you I have an appointment to get snow shoes fitted already!! I'm very excited for life in Boston, and then domesticity and kids.

We have countless good times and memories together, and hope we always will. You are one of the best things that has ever happened to me. Thanks for laughing with me during these years; never let it end. I love you.

To my priceless friends and also my seven other halves,
Amy: Watch out, those pastel shorts can catch you off guard, or do you catch them off guard? Can I be the maid of honor in the destined wedding? You'll be mine . . .

Ashley: Wrigley's is still calling our names. But remember, too many sourballs won't let us fit in to those California bikinis!

Quinci: Words of wisdom: never get in a car with people you don't know. Even if they are a law student and a med student. We're K.U. bound for real this time!!

Carla: I never knew banana splits had such strange effects. And that poor kitten - all he ever did was pose for a poster.

Shelley: Then: "We found this island" (sure we did) Now: "Well we have these relationships that are sort of similar . . . "Hang in there! (I'm trying. . . !)

Rachel: Whoever said people in hospitals need flowers anyway?? I'd rather spend my Sundays in dad's office . . . Oh my God - is that a goosebump?!

Melissa: Are we ever going to learn? Will there ever be 10 million Tom Cruises out there for us to choose from? I thought a summer was bad. What are we going to do next year?

You guys are the best friends anyone could ever ask for. I feel so lucky to have shared all of our good and bad times together. There's not anything we couldn't get through after all of our experiences!! I LOVE YOU!!!

BFF,
Britton

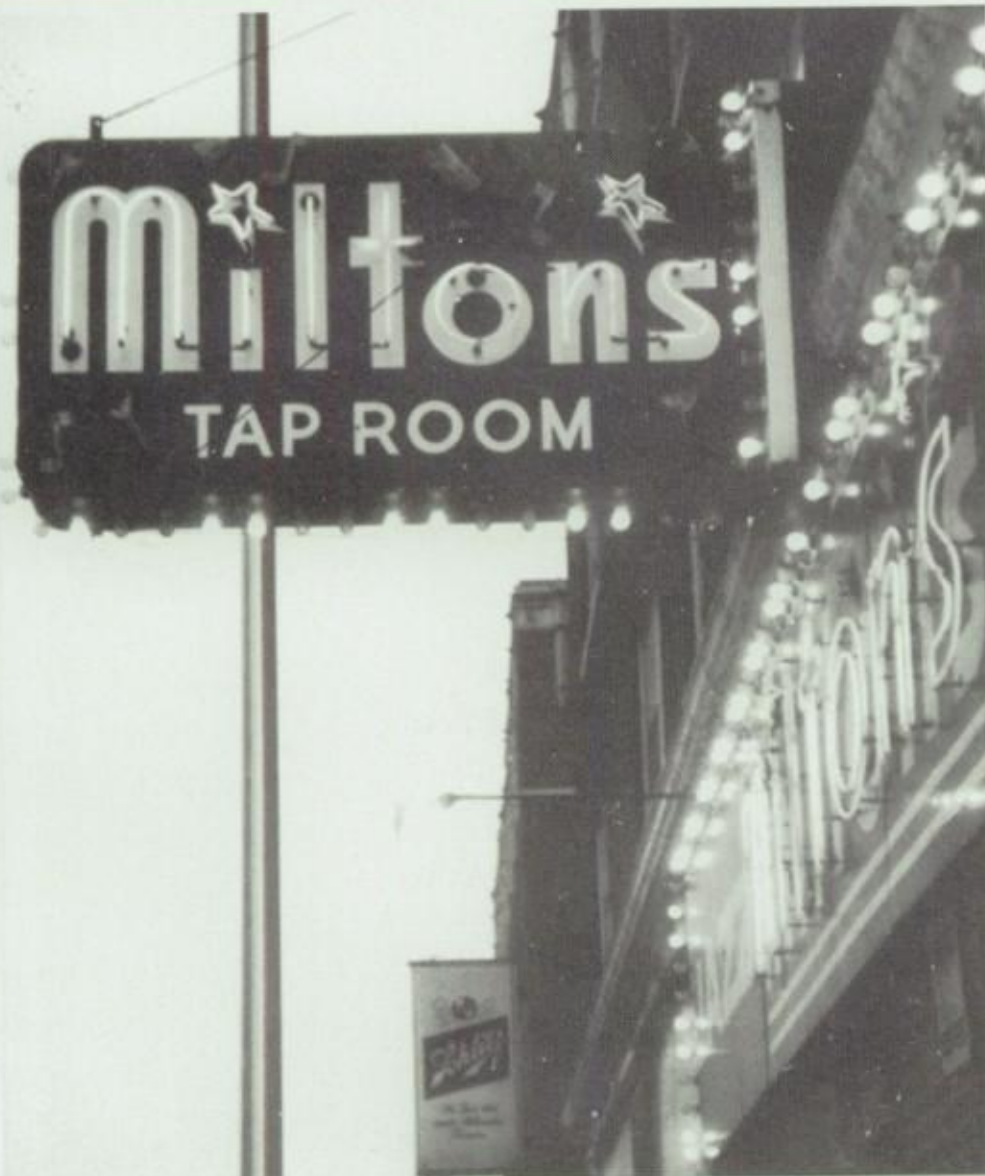

K.M.: I leave to you all my high school fun and memories. I hope your next two years are as special as mine were. You better come visit me next year!

Mom, Dad, and Hill: You guys have been great. What else can I say? You've always given me so much support and have made my life sooo happy. I love you!

Dear Britton,
I'll miss our fun times
together!

Love, Hillary

SPRING

JV AND VARSITY BASEBALL

After a visit to the final four in 1985, this year's baseball season was somewhat of a disappointment. Under new coaches Pat White, Jim Ryan, and Mike Trent, the Raiders finished with a record of 10-9-1.

The biggest problem facing the Raiders was inconsistency. This included several games where they scored only one run, and the second game of the Holden doubleheader in which the Raiders scored 26.

The varsity, led by captains Tommy Dibble, Tommy White and Bobby Jackson won nine games en route to earning the top seed in the district tournament. Among these games was a 16-16 tie with St. Pius, and a 10-6 victory over Spring Hill in which Bobby Jackson hit two homers in the same inning. Both of these teams were ranked in the city.

When districts rolled around, the Raiders were given an added advantage when the fields at West Platte were flooded and the first round was moved to Pembroke Hill. After winning the first round against Smithville by a score of 7-5, the Raiders had to face West Platte at their home field. In a game that could have gone either way, the Raiders lost by a score of 14-11. This eliminated them from state play and ended the season.

The girls softball team this year was the first ever in the history of Pembroke Hill. Although their victories were sparse, the varsity as well as the junior varsity enjoyed their season immensely. The team consisted of seniors, juniors, freshmen and very few sophomores. Coach Bruce Burgess commented "One of the big areas for improvement next year is the scheduling of the practices. Since next year the sport will be official, we will be able to meet on a more regular basis."

For the most part, the season was fun. Even after the last game at the end of April, the varsity and junior varsity continued to practice and scrimmage each other well into May. Senior player Lynne Fowler said "We just did our best and had a lot of fun doing it."

(1) Coach Burgess dreams about winning his first softball game; unfortunately, it was only a dream. (2) "It's going right out there," says Heather Williams to the pitcher. (3) Robyn Brown hopes that the preparation she used last night will relieve the future pain when she slides into second base.

JV AND VARSITY TENNIS

The tennis season did not start well this year because of the lack of a junior varsity coach. Max Fearing, the varsity coach, had his hands full trying to take care of both teams. The JV practices had to be temporarily cancelled; there was talk of postponing them indefinitely.

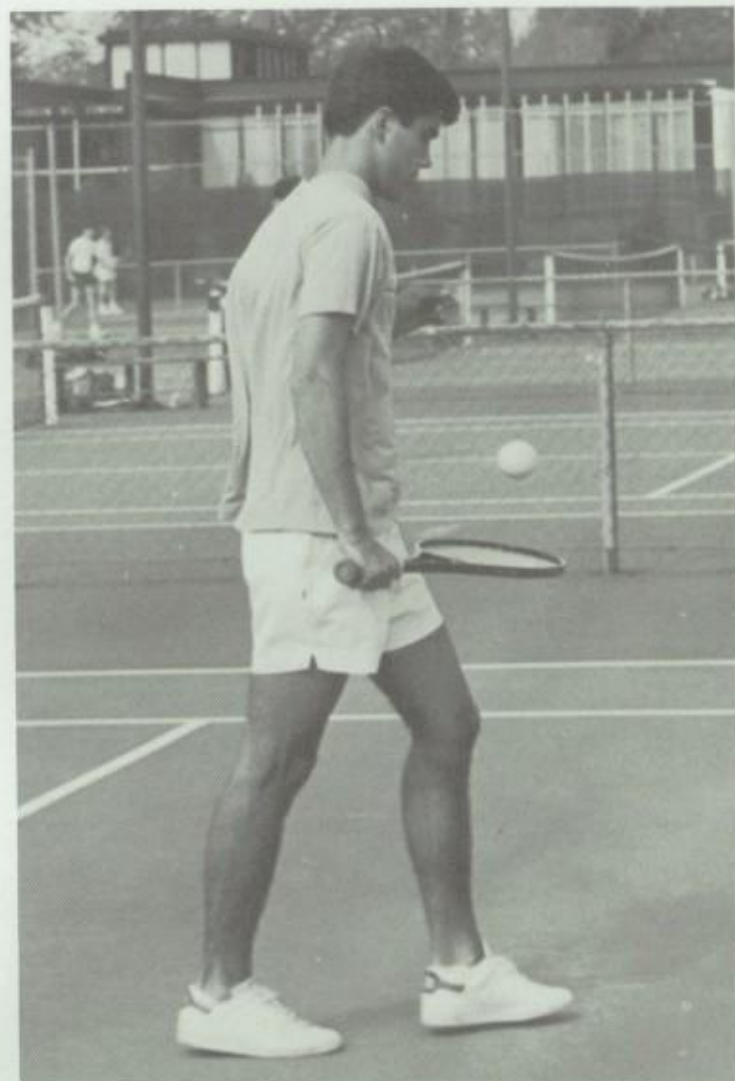

In response to this dilemma, Ann Miller and Virginia Clark volunteered their time to coach the JV team. Despite the slow start, the JV had a good year, having a record of 6-2.

The varsity team, led by returning captains Eli Lee and Brad Walters, continued to uphold its winning tradition by having a 6-2 record before Districts. Max sent doubles teams of Eli Lee and Brad Walters, Mark Maize and Greg Wolf; and singles teams of Seth Prostic and David Hyde to Districts.

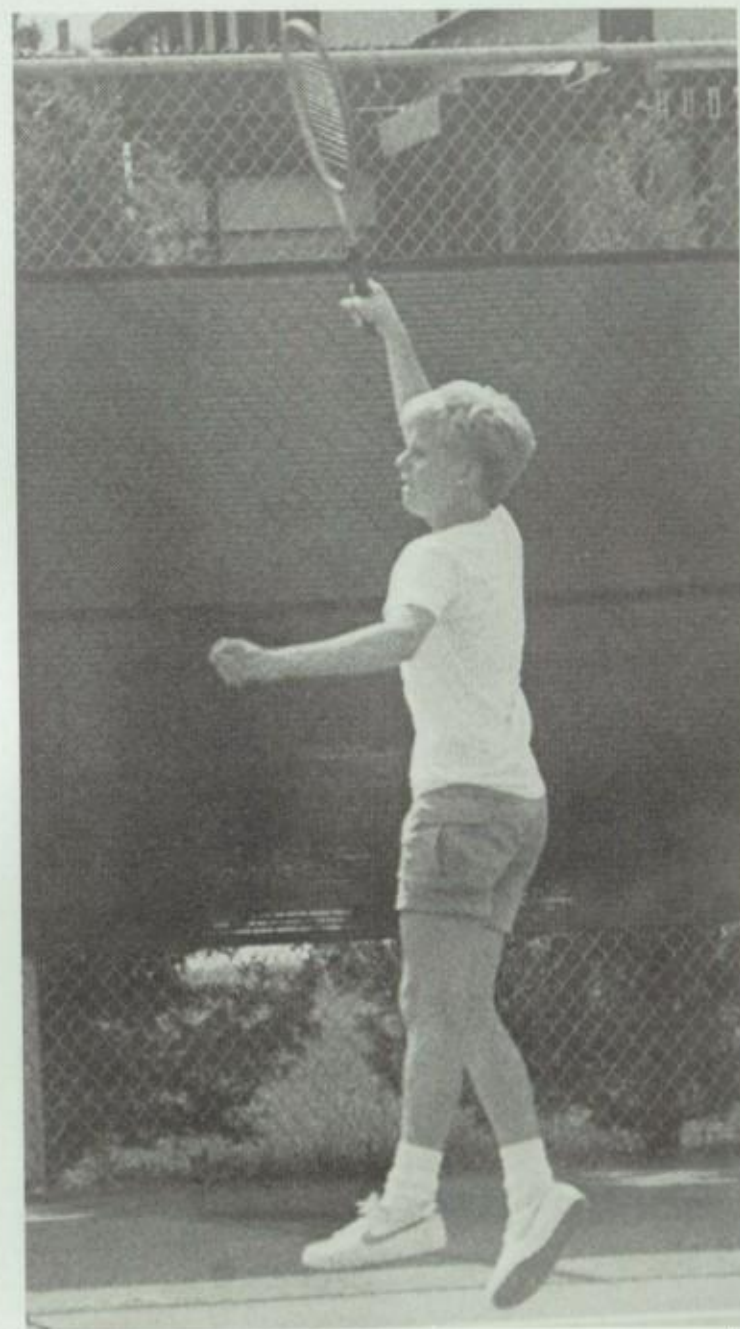

Concerning next year, Max sounded hopeful and said, "I regret losing my seniors, but I've got some good underclassmen coming up."

There were three girls soccer teams this year. The varsity which was coached by Reed Goldsmith and assisted by Ed Quigley had a strong season and ended with a 5-3-1 record. They lost their second game in districts to O'Hara. Co-captain Libby Bacon stated, "Our team ended up with a great season, even though a lot of our players were hurt. The highlight was when we really pulled together and beat St. Teresa's for the first time ever!" The junior varsity which was coached by Jim Williams had a less successful season. Their final record was 1-9. The aggressive Sweeper Anne Kurtz said, "Although our record was 1-5, I had a total blast playing! The best part was dictating to the defense and charging the ball when it came in my territory." The C team, coached by Senior Joshua Rowland, also did not do as well as they had hoped. Their record was 0-9. Despite the fact that the varsity lost in the semi-finals of districts and the J.V. and C teams lost a majority of their games, all the players felt as if the teams vastly improved. Even though six outstanding senior athletes will be gone; there is young blood boiling for next year's season.

The golf team started out their season with try outs at Swope Memorial Golf Course. After two days, the Varsity and Junior Varsity players had been determined.

Both Junior Varsity and Varsity played well throughout the season. JV won all six of their scheduled matches, which was an impressive end result of the season. The Varsity played well too. They won all of their matches, and came out in first place in Districts. Following their victory in Districts, the Varsity sent Scott Park, Tim Honan, Kevin Winters, Mark Cohen, and Travis Scott to the State playoffs. Most of the scores were between the high 70's and mid 80's. Overall the Raiders placed fourth in State.

VARSITY AND 7TH AND 8TH GRADE TRACK

As motorists drove by the Ward Parkway campus during the cold, wet, dreary February days, they would see the diligent men and women of the varsity preparing for the season. Every one started with high hopes because the team was returning almost all of its varsity lettermen.

The season was highlighted by wins at Smithville, Lathrop, and PHS in invitational and capped by a victory at the district track meet held at CMSU. At the district track meet Chris Kelsey advanced to state in the mile and two mile, Lawrence Thomas in the open quarter, Damon McReynolds in the 100 meter dash, and Drew Woolery in the 200 meter dash. Two relay teams also advanced to state: the 400 meter relay team composed of Brad Dixon, Drew Woolery, Damon McReynolds and Lawrence Thomas. In the state finals in May, senior Chris Kelsey wrapped up the season with a first place medal in the two mile run and a second place in the one mile. Junior Lawrence Thomas placed fifth in the 400 meter dash and the one mile relay team took fifth. The season was one of the most successful in the school's history and sophomore triple jumper Bar Helzberg was quoted as saying "It was a great season to be a part of." All the hard work paid off and it was still a lot of fun.

This year, the seventh and eighth graders spring production was Showcase 86. This is the first year that the class has performed in a choreographed production. Debra Garth, the director, felt that a musical review such as Showcase 86 was much more appropriate for this age level.

The show itself consisted of four major full chorus numbers, two special chorus numbers, various ensembles, and several solos. It was faster moving than an ordinary musical and a smaller orchestra was used. Also, the middle school choral group hosted a similar group of the same age level from the Blake school in Minneapolis, Minnesota. The two groups performed for each other and the experience was a good one for both groups. Mrs. Garth and the school administration are exploring the possibility of tripping to Minneapolis next year. All in all, Showcase 86 was a great success this year and will be an exciting new tradition in the years to come.

CANTERBURY TALES

This year's spring drama production was Geoffrey Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales." Roger Hawkins, the Pembroke Hill drama teacher, directed the play. The play was a series of seven skits in which every member of the cast had one or more leads. Another interesting twist to the play was the fact that it was held outside under the stars. The cast played a group of medieval actors putting on a play. Starring in the play were only twelve students; they were Seniors Flagg Miller, Joshua Rowland, Susan West, and Keene Hudson; Juniors Judson Wright, Anne Frisbie and Holly Fisher, and Freshmen Sarah Fain, Lolli Lucas, Brian Thalblum, Kim Chatten, and Bobby Lea. Junior Holly Fisher commented, "It was a different type of theater and a lot more fun. Having a play outdoors and being such a tightknit group made acting more enjoyable, and it made us all physically, mentally, and emotionally closer."

This year's May Day celebration was another success, with Libby Bacon presiding as May Queen. This year the May Day celebration was combined with Field Day. The traditional May Day dance was performed by grades Kindergarten through Sixth. Then the Field Day exercises began. Several Seniors came over and helped out here, keeping things organized, and setting up the races. This year Field Day was carried by the Red team. Said 4th grader Jane Ulrich, "we had alot of fun practicing, and the dancing and Field Day races were just great!"

JUNIOR-SENIOR DINNER AND PROM

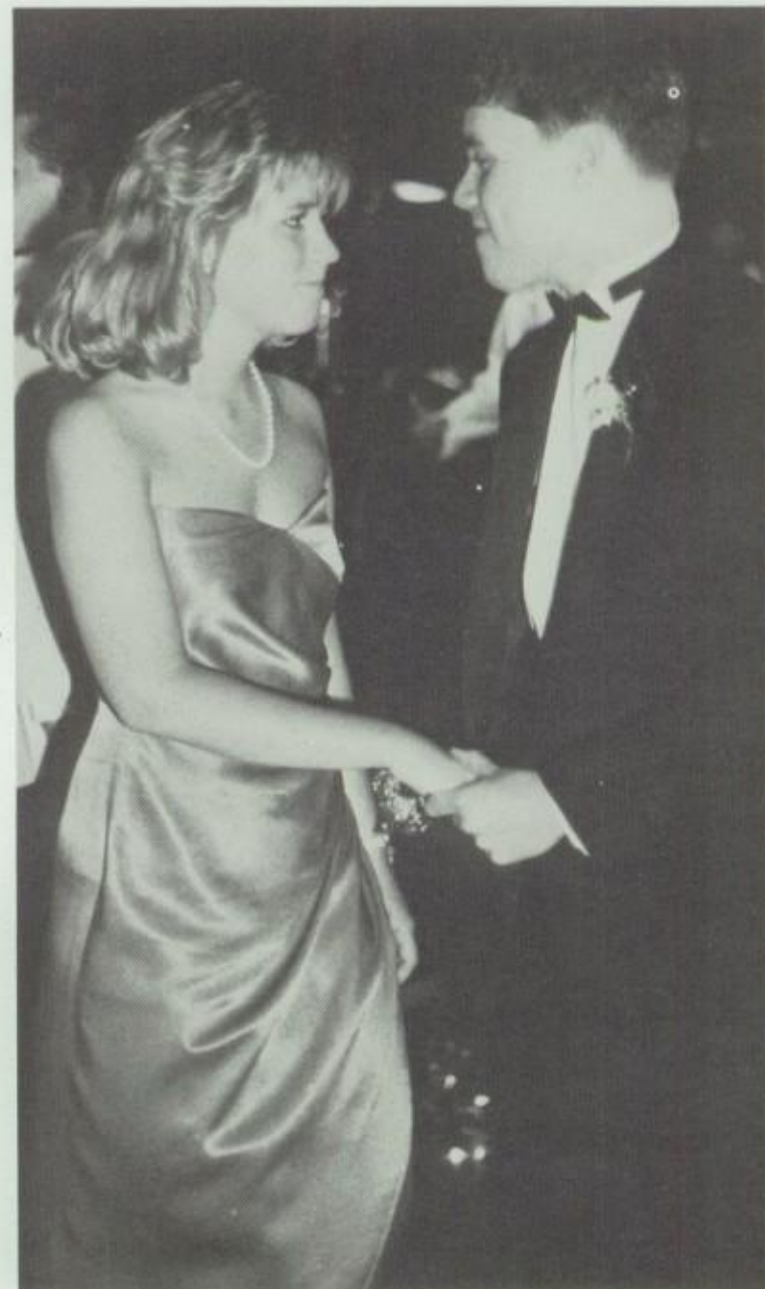

Two important spring events for the juniors and seniors were the junior-senior prom and the junior-senior dinner. This year's theme for prom held on May 17th, was "An evening in Paris." The couples entered the ballroom to find Parisian streetlamps lining the walls and hundreds of pink, lavender, white, and silver balloons. The music was provided by The Front.

The junior-senior dinner, held May 29th at the Vista, was a combination of previous Sunset Hill and Pem-Day traditions. It consisted of a ring ceremony from Sunset and the junior-senior dinner taken from Pem-Day. Seniors Gina Rheinfrank, Flagg Miller, Josh Rowland, Brooke Fogel, and Eli Lee spoke on the past, present, and future of the class of 1986. The juniors were given their senior rings and the seniors sang "Carry On" to pass the tradition of school leadership to the juniors. Junior Amy Ball commented, "It was beautiful."

(3) Jodi McDonagh is impressed by David Brice's ability to make different faces. (4) Margie Singleton shows where her braces used to be.

A great sense of accomplishment was felt by all the seniors at graduation this year. The class of 1986 had completed a year full of new traditions combined with old, and led the school with a sense of spirit that encouraged the entire school body.

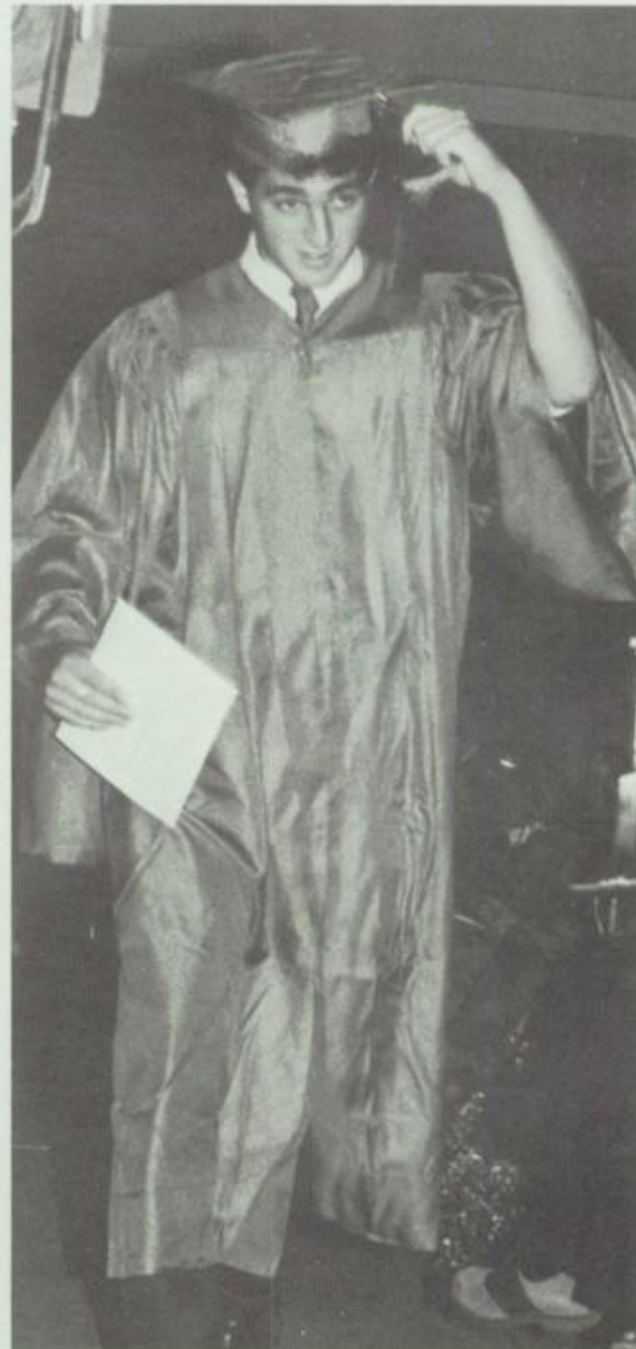

Graduation was held in the courtyard, as it had been in previous years, but the seating was rearranged. Due to the new merged and doubled expectancy of guests, landscapers were hired to come and plan the seating. The juniors participated also by helping decorate, set up chairs, and also cleaning up. Graduation was yet another new tradition to be carried on in the years to come.
